FOUR FLUSHING REFORM.

THE Carson News touches up the moral wave of the Wilson administration with an exposure of the hypocritical shams of the party in power as follows:

Did Mr. Bones, when he was in Nevada looking into the records of men aspiring to political positions, take the time to look into the matter of those already upon the payroll? Did the United States Attorney-General ask of Mr. Bones any information as to the life and character of those men who were upon the government payroll, holding messenger or stenographer positions? Did he learn that men were drawing salaries for these labors performed who had not been in Washington for years? Did he learn that James D. Finch, the alleged representative of Senator Newlands in Nevada, the man who apologizes for the acts of Newlands, is upon the federal payroll and has been for the past year and a half or more, drawing a salary of $1440 per year, first as a stenographer to the committee on revolutionary claims, and later and at this time drawing a salary as messenger to the committee of interstate commerce? Did he learn that Senator Newlands was the chairman of the first named committee and is the chairman of the last named committee?

Did Mr. Bones learn that Mr. Finch, Mr. James D. Finch, the messenger and formerly the stenographer, was a resident of Washoe county, that formerly he was a resident of Ormsby county, and has not been in Washington for a number of years?

Did Mr. Bones learn that Mr. Finch was receiving a salary from the United States for services which he could not possibly perform? Did Mr. Bones learn that Mr. Finch was the representative of Mr. Newlands in Nevada, and did not Mr. Bones call upon Mr. Finch and discuss the past and present of the men who were aspiring for office?

If Mr. Bones learned all these things, did Mr. Bones report the same to the United States Attorney-General, and did the attorney take any action?

Is Mr. Finch earning the money he is receiving from the government and is the government paying the political debts of Mr. Newlands? These are the questions which are bothering the voters of Nevada.

Will Mr. Bones explain?
 Will Jimmie Finch explain?
 Will Mr. Newlands explain?

DOING GOOD WORK.

HEARST is doing excellent police duty in watching the administration, both at Washington and in Mexico, with the result that the people are enjoying an inside light on a number of dark places and holes in the wall of politics that otherwise might escape exposure. Some critics are prone to say that the whole animus of Hearst's animadversions on the administration is due to the fact that he was not consulted or taken into the cabinet, but the naked truth is that Hearst is printing the most aggressive and enterprising group of newspapers the country has ever had. It was through his money that the original Panama canal scandal, where Buena Varilla figured as the financial agent of the De Lesseps syndicate, was exposed and then came the ravishing of Colombia through wresting a right of way from the little republic for which this country has paid tardy recognition by granting the victimized nation a sum of $25,000,000 as compensation for the robbery. Then followed the tariff tinkering, the financial jobbery and hobnobbing with the money powers of Wall street, the pusillanimous trafficking in principles by sidestepping Mexico, and latest of all the betrayal of the nation into the hands of Great Britain. If it had not been for the Hearst watchdogs at the gateway of the nation, it is possible that these nefarious plottings would have escaped notice and the country would have gone on in criminal ignorance of the work of schemers who have captured the administration which they seem able to mold to their own ends as a boy would twist a stick of taffy in the voluminous embrace of a capacious mouth. Hearst may be temperamentally unfit for the presidency, but he is brimful of ideas, and every reform he has undertaken has been for the benefit of the whole people and not for the classes.

Elko county is suffering a diminution of population by the transference of a number of citizens to the prison shades of Carson City.

However, the Ormsby county nesters should have no fear for their holdings, as the new arrivals will not have the advantage of voting. The only reason a Carson City man fears an increase in the local census is that it may deprive him of some of the pap he has been sucking for the last forty years.

Optimism is the best policy, as demonstrated by a Tonopah undertaker adding musical instruments to his stock in trade. This may be intended as an antidote to the gloomy side of life.

The state penitentiary is investing in a bunch of sheep for the convict farm. This is not intended to draw the color line with the black sheep that are so numerous in that quarter.

Rafael Lopez bills in Utah are nearly as great an issue as the Mexican war is at Juarez. The Bingham bandit left a good heritage for the Mormons to remember.

Anne H. Martin, the suffragette, is explaining. As each explains two columns, it is easy to see what the public gains by keeping such volubility out of politics.

Milwaukee voters administered a lively quick acting Seidelitz powder last Tuesday when they retired the Socialist ticket.

Salt Lake and Denver lost a couple of picas from their stature when Wilson refused to give either city a regional bank.

Washoe Indians are more patriotic than Nevada Socialists, as they swear allegiance to the Stars and Stripes.

A Philadelphia woman has invented a new removable hat lining. Probably to help her talk through her bonnet.
